

BCECA member companies' ongoing response to Covid-19

Following on from our previous article, BCECA member companies have continued to show resilience through the uncertainty brought on by the Coronavirus. They have found new ways to support their local communities:

Home working, health and wellbeing initiatives for employees:

- KBR has made a 'COVID-19 Awareness' training video available on their dedicated coronavirus dashboard. The video contains facts and measures to take to reduce its spread.
- Fluor has provided additional mental health support for its employees. They have been encouraged to share tips and ideas to support each other through vlogs.
- Live weekly online yoga classes have been set up for KBR's Leatherhead office.
- KBR Leatherhead organised a "Staying in Style" Charity Bingo Night hosted on Microsoft Teams where employees raised almost £2000 for the Community Foundation of Surrey.

- Wood ran a 7 day self-care challenge. Self-care is the regular, intentional practice of engaging in activities that can improve your overall health and welfare. Wood's mental health champions posted a fun engaging activity each day online to put employee wellbeing first.

Supplying and donating high demand products where they are most needed:

- Wood have donated 10,000 fluid resistant surgical face masks to frontline NHS staff and care homes.

- A KBR employee collected sanitisers from the empty leatherhead office and donated them to a London assisted living home.
- Fluor Provided PVC sheets from their print room to one of their sub contractors (ABM) who are using their 3D printing facilities to make face shields for the Army.

- Fluor Cares team has donated funds to three local charities who support those who are most in need during this crisis. This includes the Frimley Health Charity who is currently supporting front line NHS workers at the hospital local to the Farnborough office.
- JM donated space at one of its storage sites in the UK to help DHL assemble around 600 ventilators each day on behalf of Ventilator Challenge UK.
