

BCECA Conference 2022

BCECA is very pleased to confirm the date of our second virtual annual conference. “The Energy Transformation Challenge”, will take place on Wednesday 5th October 2022. This interactive virtual event will build on last year’s successful conference which examined the delivery of large-scale energy transition projects, including hydrogen, carbon capture and offshore wind. It will bring together opinion formers, decision-makers and thought leaders for a day of discussion on the progress and developments on the road to net zero. BCECA acknowledges the challenge facing engineering contractors and feels that the term “Energy Transition” fails to capture the enormity of the changes required, hence, the change of terminology to “Energy Transformation” for this year’s event.

Please save the date in your diary for this must-attend event. The provisional conference programme will be published in April, along with details of conference sponsorship opportunities.

Keep an eye out for this information about how to get involved with our second conference.

Industry Days’ Round Up

This month saw the completion of the 2021-22 programme of Industry Day events. Throughout the course of the academic year, 32 BCECA representatives from seven different Member companies delivered a total of 16 virtual events to approximately 900 students across ten universities: Bath; Birmingham; Hull; Loughborough; Manchester; Nottingham; Southbank; Strathclyde; Surrey and UCL. This year’s virtual programme was extended from 90 to 120 minutes to enable an extra student task to be included as well as provide additional time for Q&A with the BCECA facilitators. Overwhelmingly positive feedback was received from the students, universities and facilitators.

BCECA is now liaising with universities to plan for the next academic year’s programme, which will see an expansion into other engineering departments as well as a mix of virtual and face-to-face events. If you would like to be involved in future events, please contact BCECA for more information: admin@bceca.org.uk.
